Over its twenty-five year history, Manitoba's film and television production industry has developed experienced producers, a dependable infrastructure and award-winning talent.

Producers

Manitoba has more than 40 active production companies that create original content and that co-produce with partners from around the world. These production companies are led by seasoned service producers who have worked with and for international studios such as Fox, Universal and MGM.

Reflecting Manitoba's diverse population, content is produced in English, French and Aboriginal languages. Open to new experiences, languages and cultures, our production community welcomes the opportunity to work with co-producers from other countries.

Manitoba producers pride themselves on their capacity to work collaboratively with local and out-of-province partners to adapt rapidly to a changing media production environment. An increasing number of Manitoba producers have experience developing and managing interactive and/or multiplatform projects whether in television, film or web-based production.

1. Academy Award® winning feature film, Capote, co-produced by Eagle Vision, was shot in Manitoba and made use of the stunning landscapes and unique architecture to help bring the bio-pic of Truman Capote writing In Cold Blood to life.
2. Planet Echo is a television series and website created for APTN by Aboriginal/Francophone brothers Charles and Andy Clément that aims to educate children about environmental initiatives around world and inspires them to make a difference.

Dependable Infrastructure

Manitoba has a well established infrastructure that accommodates large or micro-budget projects with ease and flexibility. The province's 14-year-old tax credit is a stable production incentive with a proven track record and no annual cap.

From an international film and television production assurance company to financing and legal expertise, Manitoba production service suppliers are well versed in the challenges and opportunities of Canadian and international projects.

Manitoba production industry suppliers have decades of experience working with large international studios, as well as small independent productions. Combining a purpose built sound stage with adapted warehouses, Manitoba can comfortably accommodate multiple productions at any given time.

We also have post-production facilities and a Dolby certified recording studio. There are two dedicated film offices that offer location scouting, permit and logistics support, along with legendary financial incentives and problem solving at the speed of production.

4. The Manitoba Production Centre is a world-class production facility with a 15,000 square foot clear-span sound stage with two floors of office space.
5. Midcan Production Services is an audio-video production company that has 14 non-linear SD/HD video editing suites and offers full creative services.
6. William F. White International's Winnipeg branch has been providing motion picture, television and theatrical equipment to the Manitoba industry since 1998.

Award-Winning Talent

Manitoba's local talent pool has won awards on both sides of the camera. From writers, directors, actors and producers whose work is regularly showcased at major festivals such as TIFF, Berlin, Cannes, and Sundance to the talented keys that are sought after beyond our borders.

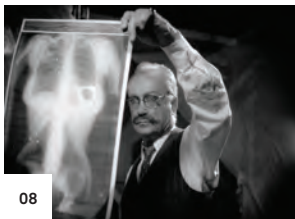

Manitoba is a strong production centre with excellent training and professional development opportunities for all industry professionals. The Winnipeg-based National Screen Institute – Canada, a celebrated organization that provides a continuum of career-long professional development for Canadian film and television industry professionals, and the Winnipeg Film Group, an artist-run organization dedicated to promoting the art of cinema, both have reputations that span the country. There are post-secondary programs in English and French, a burgeoning New Media sector and industry-driven training programs through Film Training Manitoba.

On Screen Manitoba, the regional industry association, works closely with stakeholders, unions, guilds, training bodies and the independent music and New Media industry associations to enhance the local production environment. It plays a leading role in developing the production industry through professional, business and market development initiatives.

Architecture and Period Resources

Manitoba has a rich and well preserved cultural legacy that is expressed through a variety of restored and reconstructed museums, historic sites and heritage buildings. These buildings can invoke the fur trade period of the voyageurs, to the early settlement of the prairies to the boomtown era of the early 20th century.

Clothing objects and buildings from the 20th century are readily available along with an extensive collection of pristine pre-1980's vehicles. Currently under construction, and slated to open in 2013, the Canadian Museum for Human Rights, designed by Antoine Predock, speaks to a renewal of major architectural projects in Winnipeg.

15. The Winnipeg Art Gallery celebrates 100 years in 2012-13. The current building opened in 1971 and was designed by Winnipeg architect Gustavo da Rosa using Manitoba Tyndall stone. The building includes 8 galleries, a 320-seat auditorium and a rooftop sculpture garden.
16. The Hessen Affair, a stylish crime drama set in 1945 New York, was shot in Winnipeg and co-produced by Buffalo Gal Pictures.
17. Manitoba set designers transformed the Winnipeg Exchange District into four different U.S. Cities for the filming of The Assassination of Jesse James by the Coward Robert Ford, including Kansas City, St. Joseph, Mo., Baltimore and New York.

Performing, Visual and Literary Arts Resources

Known as the Cultural Cradle of Canada, Winnipeg's world-class culture sector spans all disciplines of visual, performing and literary arts. Both the Royal Winnipeg Ballet, which recently celebrated its 70th anniversary, and the Winnipeg Contemporary Dancers, integral to the development of modern dance in Canada, have acclaimed professional dance schools with integrated university degrees.

Manitoba has a rich and active theatre community that includes several independent theatre companies as well as The Royal Manitoba Theatre Centre, the Prairie Theatre Exchange, the Manitoba Theatre for Young People and Cercle Molière, the oldest Francophone theatre group in Canada.

Contributing to Manitoba's rich visual arts scene include the Winnipeg Art Gallery, post-secondary art schools and several small independent galleries. Manitoba writers including Miriam Toews, Carol Shields, David Bergen, Gabrielle Roy and Margaret Laurence have all earned national and international recognition for their work.

18. TuTuMUCH, co-produced by Merit Motion Pictures and vonnie VON HELMOLT film, a feature documentary on the challenges of professional dance training was shot in Winnipeg at the RWB School.
19. Shall We Dance, a romantic comedy starring Susan Sarandon, Richard Gere and Jennifer Lopez, was filmed in Winnipeg and populated with talented local dancers from the Royal Winnipeg Ballet, the Winnipeg Contemporary Dancers and other professional dance schools.
20. Manitoba stunt actor Sean Skene doing a full on shirtless body burn for the feature film The Divide, co-produced by Julijette Inc. Manitoba's many theatres and two post-secondary theatre training schools and university programs ensure a base of talented actors ready to try anything.
21. The Stone Angel, co-produced by Buffalo Gal Pictures, is based on the novel by Margaret Laurence and had its premiere at the 2007 Toronto International Film Festival.

Music

Manitoba is recognized for its strong independent music scene that ranges from classical to rock to folk. Internationally recognized musicians from Manitoba include Neil Young, Burton Cummings, Randy Bachman, Tracy Dahl and James Ehnes. American TV series So You Think You Can Dance, 90210, One Tree Hill, Grey's Anatomy, Pretty Little Liars and Keeping Up With the Kardashians have featured songs by Manitoba musicians Ash Koley, Grand Analog, Sierra Noble, Jaylene Johnson and Heather Longstaffe.

21. The Winnipeg Symphony Orchestra, celebrating its 64th year for the 2011-2012 season, performs over 80 concerts each year. Under the leadership of Music Director Alexander Mickelthreute, these performances include live scores for classic and silent films.

Sports and Recreation

Manitoba has strong recreational and developmental programs for a wide range of winter, summer and water sports and hosted the 1999 Pan American Games. Sport Manitoba (sportmanitoba.ca) has information about sports played in the province and how to reach key organizers. Manitoba has two professional sports teams, the Winnipeg Jets and the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, which play in world-class facilities, the MTS Centre and the Investors Group Field (opening this year).

High-level athletes have emerged from the province's swimming teams (including diving and synchronized), as well as through winter sports including hockey, cross-country skiing, biathlons and speed skating. Winnipeg maintains two national level gymnastics clubs and all racquet sports are practiced here. Sports facilities include an Olympic-sized swimming facility, indoor and outdoor soccer complexes, indoor and outdoor track facilities along with a wealth of green space for cycling and running. See location photos on page 54.

22. With its cold, snowy winters and an abundance of indoor and outdoor hockey arenas, Manitoba cities are the perfect backdrop for any winter sport shot. Both the mini-series, Keep Your Head Up, Kid: The Don Cherry Story, co-produced by Frantic Films, and Goon, co-produced by Inferno Pictures, used Manitoba hockey players and facilities for filming.
23. The Farpoint Films co-produced high school comedy feature, Wild Cherry, written by Farpoint Films' Chris Charney, utilised the skills of local athletes during the filming of the football scenes.
